Munich - <http://www.muenchen.de/int/en/tourism>

The City of Munich is located close to the Bavarian Alps in the centre of Europe. The River Isar flows through the town. Total area of the city: about 31,000 hectares (76,543 acres)

In the well-preserved historical center you find charming little pedestrian streets, beautiful old churches and small authentic shops that give an idea of the city's long tradition of Bavarian culture. Beyond old town you find extensive and well-kept public parks such as the green spaces along Isar River as well as English Gardens and hilly Olympiapark. With an impressive range of top-class museums, theaters, the famous Munich Opera House and an agile independent cultural scene Munich is one of Europe's centers of arts and music. Kaufingerstrasse, Neuhauser Strasse (high street shopping) and Maximilianstrasse (luxury goods) are considered Germany's leading shopping areas. Munich's immediate surroundings include the beautiful Lakes of Starnberg, Ammersee and Chiemsee as well as the famous Neuschwanstein Castle, and Germany's highest summit Zugspitze. Technische Universität München (TUM)

The people of Munich are also proud of the city's museums, many of which are of international standing, such as the Deutsches Museum, the world's biggest science and technology museum, the Alte Pinakothek,

the Neue Pinakothek,

the Pinakothek der Moderne and the Lenbachhaus Museum. Then there's the Glyptothek Museum, the State

Collections of Antiques and the Brandhorst Museum with its breathtaking collection of modern art from 1945 onwards. Here in Munich's Art Quarter, however, you'll also find charming little bars, cosy cafés and pretty boutiques, yet another example of how the Munich lifestyle combines culture with the finer things in life. And here the TUM is situated, too. The city campus in the heart of Munich exists since the founding of TUM in 1868.

Most tourists arrive in Munich by either train or plane. The Munich Airport (MUC) is 40km from Munich centre, and is served by the S-Bahn local trains. Please have a look at the directions on TUM - How to get here.
